DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:

- I. Claims 1-12, drawn to an exposure apparatus, classified in class 156, subclass 345.5.
- II. Claim 13, drawn to a method of installing a plurality of semiconductor manufacturing apparatus including an exposure apparatus, classified in class 438, subclass 689.
- III. Claim 15, drawn to an apparatus including a local area network and a gateway, classified in class 118, subclass 719.
- IV. Claim 16, drawn to a method of maintaining an exposure apparatus including preparing a database, classified in class 438, subclass 708.

The inventions are distinct, each from the other because of the following reasons:

Inventions I and II are related as process and apparatus for its practice. The inventions are distinct if it can be shown that either: (1) the process as claimed can be practiced by another materially different apparatus or by hand, or (2) the apparatus as claimed can be used to practice another and materially different process. (MPEP § 806.05(e)). In this case the method requires installing a plurality of semiconductor manufacturing apparatuses for manufacturing a semiconductor device whereas the apparatus is merely an exposure apparatus for providing a pattern on a wafer.

Art Unit: 1763

Inventions I and III are related as subcombinations disclosed as usable together in a single combination. The subcombinations are distinct from each other if they are shown to be separately usable. In the instant case, invention III has separate utility such as for externally controlling cleaning a set of chambers rather than a set of manufacturing apparatuses. See MPEP § 806.05(d).

Inventions I and IV are related as process and apparatus for its practice. The inventions are distinct if it can be shown that either: (1) the process as claimed can be practiced by another materially different apparatus or by hand, or (2) the apparatus as claimed can be used to practice another and materially different process. (MPEP § 806.05(e)). In this case the method further requires preparing a database for storing information on the maintenance of an exposure apparatus using an external network.

Inventions II and III are related as process and apparatus for its practice. The inventions are distinct if it can be shown that either: (1) the process as claimed can be practiced by another materially different apparatus or by hand, or (2) the apparatus as claimed can be used to practice another and materially different process. (MPEP § 806.05(e)). In this case the apparatus further requires a local area network and a gateway.

Inventions II and IV are related as subcombinations disclosed as usable together in a single combination. The subcombinations are distinct from each other if they are shown to be separately usable. In the instant case, invention IV has separate utility such as for preparing a database for externally controlling cleaning a set of chambers rather than a set of manufacturing apparatuses. See MPEP § 806.05(d).

Art Unit: 1763

Inventions III and IV are related as process and apparatus for its practice. The inventions are distinct if it can be shown that either: (1) the process as claimed can be practiced by another materially different apparatus or by hand, or (2) the apparatus as claimed can be used to practice another and materially different process. (MPEP § 806.05(e)). In this case the method requires preparing a database storing information on the maintenance of an exposure apparatus using an external network.

Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and have acquired a separate status in the art as shown by their different classification, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and the search required for Groups II, III and IV is not required for Group I, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and have acquired a separate status in the art because of their recognized divergent subject matter, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

A telephone call was made to Steven E. Warner on 1/7/02 to request an oral election to the above restriction requirement, but did not result in an election being made.

Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include an election of the invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 CFR 1.143).
